SENTINELONE THIRD-PARTY TERMS

Exhibit F to the Master Subscription Agreement

Version 1.3

H&A Security Solutions, LLC d/b/a Tellaro — 12178 N 1450th Street, Effingham, Illinois 62401

SENTINELONE THIRD-PARTY TERMS

This Exhibit F (these "SentinelOne Terms") applies only when Customer purchases SentinelOne Singularity Complete licensing through Tellaro (the "SentinelOne Service"), whether as the EDR Provider in a Plan or as a standalone license. These SentinelOne Terms are required by SentinelOne, Inc. ("SentinelOne") as a condition of Tellaro's right to use the SentinelOne Service in providing managed security services to Customer. Tellaro holds the SentinelOne licenses and provides them to Customer as part of Tellaro's services; Customer does not receive a license directly from SentinelOne. Capitalized terms not defined here have the meanings given in the Master Subscription Agreement or the End User License Agreement — On-Prem, as applicable (the "Agreement"). In the event of conflict between this Exhibit F and the Agreement with respect to the SentinelOne Service, this Exhibit F controls.

1. APPLICABILITY

These SentinelOne Terms apply only while the SentinelOne Service is active on an Order Form. If it is removed at renewal or terminated, these SentinelOne Terms cease to apply except for surviving obligations (such as data-deletion and confidentiality).

2. SENTINELONE REQUIRED FLOW-DOWN TERMS

2.1 Claims.

Customer will bring all claims arising out of the SentinelOne Service or its use against Tellaro and will not bring any claim directly against SentinelOne. SentinelOne has no obligation or liability to Customer under the Agreement.

2.2 Use.

Customer may use the SentinelOne Service only for its internal business security and operations, in accordance with SentinelOne's documentation and in conjunction with the services Tellaro provides under the Agreement.

2.3 Restrictions.

Customer will not, and will not permit any user or third party to: (i) modify, disclose, alter, translate, or create derivative works of the SentinelOne Service (or any component of it) or its documentation; (ii) license, sublicense, resell, distribute, lease, rent, lend, transfer, assign, or otherwise dispose of the SentinelOne Service or its documentation; (iii) use the SentinelOne Service for any purpose other than Customer's internal business operations, including for the benefit of any other third party; (iv) use the SentinelOne Service in violation of any law or regulation, including to store or transmit infringing, libelous, or otherwise unlawful or tortious material, or material in violation of third-party privacy rights; (v) use the SentinelOne Service to store, transmit, or test for any viruses or other code designed to permit unauthorized access to, disable, erase, or otherwise harm software, hardware, or data; (vi) probe, scan, or test the efficacy or vulnerability of the SentinelOne Service, or take any action to circumvent or undermine it, except for legitimate testing coordinated with Tellaro and SentinelOne; (vii) disassemble, decompile, reverse engineer, copy, frame, or mirror any part or content of the SentinelOne Service, or otherwise attempt to derive its source code; (viii) access, test, or use the SentinelOne Service to build a competitive product or service, or copy any of its features or functions; (ix) interfere with or disrupt its integrity or performance; (x) attempt to gain unauthorized access to it or its related systems or networks; (xi) disclose to any third party or publish in any media any performance information or analysis relating to it; or (xii) fail to maintain all copyright, trademark, and proprietary notices on it and any permitted copy.

2.4 Compliance with Laws.

Customer will use the SentinelOne Service in accordance with the laws, rules, and regulations that apply to Customer and is solely responsible for determining whether its use complies with them.

2.5 Removal on Termination.

On expiration or termination of the SentinelOne Service, Tellaro will issue uninstall commands to Customer's SentinelOne agents (or provide a removal tool for Devices it cannot reach). Customer will remove any remaining copies of the SentinelOne software and related materials within thirty (30) days and, on request, certify in writing that removal is complete. Customer acknowledges that Devices will no longer be protected by the SentinelOne Service after removal, and Tellaro has no responsibility for Devices after the SentinelOne Service ends.

3. WARRANTY AND LIMITATIONS

3.1 Tellaro Warranty.

Tellaro is solely responsible to Customer for warranties regarding the SentinelOne Service. Tellaro warrants that the SentinelOne Service, as provisioned by Tellaro, will perform materially in accordance with SentinelOne's then-current documentation. Customer's exclusive remedy, and Tellaro's sole obligation, for breach of this warranty is for Tellaro to correct or replace the affected SentinelOne Service or, if Tellaro cannot do so within a reasonable time, to credit the fees for the affected SentinelOne Service for the period of non-conformity. This warranty does not cover any failure of the SentinelOne Service to detect or prevent a threat, which is governed by the security services limitations in the Agreement. EXCEPT AS STATED IN THIS SECTION 3.1, TELLARO MAKES NO OTHER WARRANTIES REGARDING THE SENTINELONE SERVICE, EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, INCLUDING WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY, FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE, OR NON-INFRINGEMENT.

3.2 Tellaro Responsibility.

Tellaro is responsible to Customer for the SentinelOne Service as provided in this Exhibit F, subject to Section 3.4. Tellaro will provision and maintain Customer's SentinelOne licenses during the Subscription Term, administer the SentinelOne console, provide support, and escalate to SentinelOne when necessary.

3.3 Third-Party Beneficiary.

Where SentinelOne's required flow-down language identifies SentinelOne as a third-party beneficiary of these SentinelOne Terms, Customer agrees that SentinelOne may directly enforce the applicable provisions against Customer.

3.4 Liability Cap.

Notwithstanding any provision of the Agreement to the contrary, claims arising out of or relating to the SentinelOne Service are subject to the same liability limitations and exclusions as set forth in the Agreement.

4. DATA AND SUB-PROCESSING

Customer acknowledges that the SentinelOne Service involves processing of Customer endpoint telemetry by SentinelOne. SentinelOne is identified as a Sub-Processor in the Tellaro DPA (Exhibit C, Schedule 1). Customer's purchase of the SentinelOne Service constitutes Customer's authorization for SentinelOne to act as a Sub-Processor.

5. TERMINATION

Tellaro may end the SentinelOne Service if SentinelOne terminates Tellaro's right to resell it or imposes restrictions that Tellaro reasonably determines make it non-viable. Tellaro will use commercially reasonable efforts to give Customer at least sixty (60) days' notice. Customer may then either (a) move to a Customer-Provided EDR with Tellaro's reasonable assistance, after which the Customer-Provided EDR credit on the Order Form applies, or (b) terminate the affected Plan without early-termination liability, in which case Tellaro will refund any prepaid fees for that Plan for the remainder of the term.